HOLMENKOL offers a new spanner of optimum design

Heimerdingen, January 15, 2008. Just like for ski wax, HOLMENKOL also places great emphasis on innovation for tools. For instance, the SuperPro Easy and SuperPro Plus World Cup spanners will be available starting next winter season.

SuperPro Easy: A spanner for convenient edge and base tuning of all types of alpine skis (e.g., racing, carving, freeride and freestyle). The ski can be clamped either in a vertical position or at a 60° angle. This spanner is the most basic design of SuperProPlus World Cup. The major difference is that it has no central clamping jaws and does not allow continuous angle adjustment.

SuperPro Easy

SuperProPlus World Cup: As is suggested by its name, this spanner was devised to cater for the high demands of World Cup skiing. For edge tuning, the ski is clamped vertically using the front and rear supports. It can be fixed in any convenient position at an angle of between 90° and 60°. For base tuning/waxing, the ski is positioned horizontally and is fastened using the central clamping jaws. SuperPro Plus World Cup features convenient handling characteristics and optimum stability.
